Nominations open for “Champion of Youth” awards

United Way to honor businesses, non-profit organizations and individuals working with youth

July 17, 2017

REDDING, CA — United Way of Northern California (UWNC) is seeking nominations for its first annual Champion of Youth awards, which spotlight those who make a positive impact on the youth in our community.

The organization is asking the public for nominations for three categories: local business, non-profit organization and individual citizen. UWNC will announce winners and salute three nominees in each category at its upcoming “Breakfast of Champions” fundraising breakfast, held on September 21st at Win- River Resort & Casino in Redding.

“Our youth represent our future. ‘Breakfast of Champions’ provides an opportunity to spotlight the many people and organizations that are stepping up on behalf of youth in our community. This event also gives United Way the opportunity to share information about our youth-related initiatives, and to solicit more resources so we can continue our efforts to make a positive difference on behalf of kids and families in the North State,” said Larry Olmstead, President & CEO of United Way of Northern California.

Deadline for nominations is on Monday, July 24th. Nomination and ticket information can be found at norcalunitedway.org/breakfast-champions.
