

UNITED FOR DIGNITY & RESPECT

United Way of Northern California

In the current climate, many Americans see our country divided over values and politics. United Way believes we are more alike than different.

Every day, our agency works with businesses, government, non-profit agencies and regular citizens, all striving to improve lives in our community – regardless of race, background, sexual orientation, gender identity or other experiences. The promise of opportunity for all is a core value of our nation.

At United Way, we believe that treating everyone with dignity and respect goes a long way toward creating those opportunities and strengthening our society. Let's UNITE around that.
